Conclusions of the second Western Balkan Research and Innovation Meeting, 21 - 22 March 2018, Skopje

The second Western Balkans Research and Innovation meeting was organised within the framework of the European Commission's Support for the Steering Platform (SP) on Research and Innovation for the Western Balkan countries (WBC). The meeting was co-chaired by the Ministry of Education and Science of the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia who hosted the event, the Bulgarian presidency of the Council of the European Union, and the European Commission (DG Research and Innovation). In the opening session, Special Adviser of the Minister at the Ministry of Education and Science, Ms. Ljubica Karamandi Popchevski welcomed all participants to Skopje, thanked the European Commission for its support and wished all participants a successful Research and Innovation meeting. On behalf of the European Commission (DG Research and Innovation, Directorate for International Cooperation), Mr. Bernhard Fabianek called the present Research and Innovation meeting historic in view of the European Commission's new enlargement strategy. According to Mr. Fabianek, this new strategy has the character of a "game changer" because it offers the Western Balkan countries a perspective of EU membership. Effectively, this means that reinforced actions have to be taken to achieve significant progress in research and innovation. As representative of the European Commission's Joint Research Centre (JRC), Mr. Miroslav Veskovc emphasised that the JRC takes a cross-sectoral perspective when it comes to research and innovation. Science is not regarded as a means by itself but as a basis for policies. Thus, it is important for the Western Balkan countries to align their research priorities with their economic priorities and policies, notably through the formulation of research and innovation strategies for smart specialisation. For instance, applied science in fields such as energy efficiency, renewable energies or environmental technologies can be used by other sectors across the economy. JRC can assist the Western Balkan countries when implementing such a cross-sectoral and multidisciplinary approach. (...)
