4 Parallel thematic sessions on European maritime policies (Organised by European Commission – DG MARE)

• Thematic session 1

EU MISSION 'RESTORE OUR OCEAN AND WATERS'

The Mission's strategic objective is to restore the health of our ocean and waters by 2030 by protecting and restoring marine and freshwater ecosystems and biodiversity, preventing and eliminating pollution of our ocean, seas and waters and fostering carbon-neutrality and circularity of the EU's blue economy. It will be rolled out in a first phase (2021-2024) through 'lighthouse' demonstrator projects in major European sea and river basins, and in a second phase (as of 2025) through replication and scaling up of these projects.

The session will present the state of play of the Mission implementation and will discuss how interested stakeholders can get involved and contribute to the different phases of the Mission.

Moderator

- Andreea Strachinescu, European Commission, Head of unit DG MARE A1

Speakers

- Kestutis Sadauskas, European Commission, Deputy Director General, DG MARE, Ocean Mission Manager
- Dirk Beckers, European Commission, Director of CINEA
- Renzo Tomellini, Head of the Technical secretariat of the Minister, Ministero della Transizione Ecologica
- Ruben Eiras, Forum Oceano, Lisbon
- Bente Pretlove, Waterborne Technology platform

• Thematic session 2

MARITIME SPATIAL PLANNING AND STAKEHOLDERS ENGAGEMENT

In April 2022 the European Commission published its first progress implementation report for the EU Directive on Maritime Spatial Planning (MSP). MSP aims to ensure that the protection of our marine resources and their sustainable use go hand-in-hand. Multi-use is a way to engage different stakeholders on a common project. Since 2010, the European Union has funded many multi-use projects at sea, targeting research and innovation on food security, clean energy, green transport, climate action and resource efficiency, as well as cross-boundaries projects on MSP. The session aims at presenting the progress of the EU, as a global leader on maritime spatial planning, in addressing the Green Deal's objectives at sea and stakeholders' engagement, notably thanks to multiple use of space, with good examples from all EU sea basins.

Moderator

- Christos Economou, European Commission, Acting Director DG MARE A

Speakers

- Dr Nathalie Scheidegger, Project Leader Sustainable Blue Economy, Ministerie van Landbouw, Natuur en Voedselkwaliteit
- Dr Antonia Leroy, Head of Ocean Policy, WWF European Policy Office
- Conor McCabe, Principle Officer leading development of the National Marine Thematic Framework and MSP, Ireland
- Andrej Abramic, PLASMAR+ project coordinator, co-chair Data4MSP technical expert group

- Thematic session 3

The Sustainable Blue Economy implementation through smart specialisation

The session will focus on the implementation of the sustainable blue economy in the context of the EU sea basin and macro regional strategies. Smart specialisation strategies are a useful tool to further support regional cooperation in transitioning towards a sustainable blue economy, by creating the necessary innovation ecosystems. The discussion will highlight how blue interregional partnerships can facilitate the design, demonstration, scaling up and market introduction of new mature innovative services and products that promote green business models and practices.

- Mr George Alexakis, Vice President on Maritime Affairs, CPMR

- Thematic session 4

Ocean observation and Blue ECONOMY Observatory

The session will present the Ocean Observation initiative and the Blue Economy Observatory and will explore the synergies between them. The EC Ocean Observation initiative, to be adopted in 2022, aims to achieve a common EU approach for measuring once and using the data for many purposes, by different users. The Blue Economy Observatory, to be launched in the EMD 2022, will collect, assemble and disseminate data in an appropriate way, aiming to support the sustainable transformation of the EU Blue Economy through science-based evidence. Today, more than ever, there is a well-defined need to integrate ocean observation with social-economic information on the Blue Economy. This integration is crucial to manage efficiently and effectively coastal and marine ecosystems, to achieve ecosystem-based management where necessary and to progress with developments, such as the European Digital Twin Ocean.

MARLESS Project: MARine Litter cross-border awareness and innovation actions

By the City of Ravenna

The aim of the session is firstly to give an overview on the MARLESS Interreg European project -Marine litter cross border awareness and innovation actions – and then to show the progresses done up to now about the topic. The topic will be presented from an environmental, engineering, and chemical point of view. It will be given also a look on what has been done up to now and what still needs to be done to conclude the project with satisfying results. The general objective of the project is to implement concrete and joint interventions that allow to address the phenomenon of marine litter from different points of view and methods of intervention. The project therefore puts into effect concrete actions of monitoring, management, prevention and removal of the marine litter without neglecting the normative aspect within which these actions are framed. Finally, it proposes innovative and experimental actions aimed at treating plastic waste in a circular economy perspective.

PARALLEL WORKSHOPS OF EU4OCEAN SUMMIT

- PARALLEL WORKSHOP 1

THE CITIES WE NEED FOR THE OCEAN WE WANT

(Co-organised with IOC-UNESCO and EuroGOOS)

This workshop will discuss ocean literacy as a tool to connect ocean science with cities and communities in European coastal or land-locked settings. We will engage with ocean literacy practitioners, oceanographers, city authorities, and the next generation of Blue Career professionals, to discuss how to make our cities more blue and citizens more ocean literate. With the UN Decade of Ocean Science going on full steam, we will invite the audience to follow the Decade programme “Ocean Literacy With All” and its project “Scientists for Ocean Literacy”. Students from the Bologna University will share their ideas and expectations from the city municipalities and representatives of the ocean literacy initiatives across Europe. The event will connect science with the public in a tangible way to co-design tools and solutions for the cities we need for the ocean we want.

- YOUTH AND CAPACITY BUILDING FOR OCEAN LITERACY - CONNECTING GENERATIONS THROUGH STORYTELLING

(Co-organized with Youth4Ocean Forum)

We care about what we know, and we care about what we connect with emotionally. Empowering an ocean generation connected to the ocean through personal experiences and stories is key to the successful development of ocean literacy. The workshop will bring concept of storytelling to life by facilitating communication between different generations on the sustainability of the ocean and coastal areas. An important element of the workshop involves speed-dating activities and story exchanging opportunities recalling different ocean challenges, and the use of online resources (tools and content) in a modern approach to ocean and coastal sustainability.

The workshop builds on experiences from different actors involved in ocean literacy (OL) activities at different territorial scales, identifying common lessons in terms of bottlenecks and conditions for success. In light of these experiences, it then investigates the role sea basin initiatives could have in providing the right umbrella and conditions in the different European seas to steer and facilitate the replication and upscaling of OL initiatives. Lessons will help defining efforts and activities at the sea basin scale to be organised within the frame of the EU4Ocean coalition.
