

Croatian-German Energy Conference

Energy Policy in Croatia – Conceptions, Framework Conditions and Opportunities for Co-operation

Croatian-German Energy Conference

In 2013 Croatia will join the European Union. Ahead of the accession, the conference will highlight the Croatian market potential in the fields of energy efficiency and renewable energies. It encourages German enterprises to participate in the implementation of the Croatian national energy programme and the stabilization of the energy industry in Southeastern Europe. The objective of the conference is to illustrate the political strategy of Croatia for the further improvement of the energy efficiency of the economy as well as private consumption. It will show the opportunities for intensified utilization of renewable energy sources and impart the expertise of German enterprises to translate policy into technical solutions. Special attention will be directed to necessary efforts in the scope of infrastructure development and project implementation.
